Beautiful Untamed Goddesses,

Thank you for allowing me to share the July Reading with you. The first half of 2020 has been nothing short of transformational, uncomfortable, and propelling for Lightworkers globally. Do you feel the propulsion to shed the 'old you' and step into your sacred divinity? If so, you will continue to feel this propulsion throughout July. Goddess Kali is energetically active; burning down the old to create fertile soil for the new. Work with her to release what is no longer serving you... especially the stories that you carry. You are being guided by the Angel of Balance as you find Clarity in how you are being called to Lead. You ARE being called to lead, otherwise, you would not be reading this. Take comfort in the fact that you do not need to 'go out and change the world.' As you nourish yourself, you nourish and change the world. When you allow the gifts of the Universe to shower you, you show others that they are divine and worthy too. What story will you tell for the second half of 2020? Focus only on what you would love to emerge rather than what you would love to 'end.' What you resist will persist. Kali is calling us forward to lead with intentionality.

Goddess Oracle – Kali – Endings and Beginnings

“The old must be released so that the new can enter.”

Message from Kali: “I sing praises to those whose hearts accept the universal order, which only appears to be chaotic and ever-changing. In actuality, everything is designed down to the smallest detail, to be in perfect operation. The dance of the Universe is a happy one, with energy swirling and twirling in a never-ending celebration of life itself. Join this dance, dear one, and enjoy the remarkable journey of the weavings of the story of your life. Do not fear what appears to be a change or a loss! It’s only the transitioning orbit of energy interplaying with you and your loved ones. Embrace it as evidence that you’re alive! Embrace your deepest emotions as a signal of your true human essence. Keep your thoughts positive, as they’re very powerful. What appears to be a loss is really beginning of a happy new phase. Let the past go... even the recent past. It’s time to move on.”

Energy Oracle – Angel of Balance

This loving presence holds a pitcher of liquid light in front of the pyramids, reminding us that a strong destiny relies on a solid foundation of personal balance and emotional equanimity. Although things may have been out of sync in the recent past, this card is telling us that a greater equilibrium is now on the horizon. Remain conscious about how you are balancing your goals and your physical and emotional energy as well. Whenever you feel yourself getting off center or losing focus, call upon this beautiful angel and bring her intention into your heart center. Your intuition will lead you in the right direction, and the angel will guide you to a peaceful and centered approach.

Work Your Light - Priestess

How are you being called to step up and lead?

The Priestess is a teacher directed to service, freedom, and leadership. We don't need to have it all together to lead. In fact, it helps if we don't. No one wants a perfect angel who hasn't made any mistakes. Let your life be your message. (Make your mess your message.) Don't underestimate the power of sharing your story. It's by hearing someone else's journey that we feel less alone. We realize that we're actually all in this thing called 'life' together. The difference between a follower and a leader is that a leader has the courage to go first. In stepping out, they shine light on the path for others to venture forward too. Don't fret too much about trying to work out who is your tribe. Don't get stuck in age, income, hobbies or occupation. The best way to discover your tribe is to look in the mirror. If you feel called to lead, chances are it is because at some point in your life you longed for someone to lead you. Your tribe are longing for exactly the same thing as you were (and are) and might only be one step behind you. Hell, they may even be right alongside you! You don't need anyone's permission, just the courage to stand up. Embrace your struggles, the peaks and the troughs. You don't need to know the way. Just believe that there might be a different one. Your tribe is waiting for you. Step forward so they can find you!

Sacred Rebel – Receiving

“You are so loved. Your every need it witnessed and responded to by the Universe. However, you sometimes forget this. You become swept up in the momentum of habitual consciousness, and you forget to take a moment to stop, breathe and be. In that moment you can receive the love of the universe that is receiving you. It will nourish you with contentment and energy. You have not done this enough, so your soul is becoming parched and is drying out. Energy has been going out of you but there is not enough coming back in. It is time to bring something back in for you. To receive and be received. You are being offered a chance for restoration now, to feel nourished, cared for and loved. Accept it! You deserve it. The healing process on the next page will help you surrender any guilt or shame you feel for having needs in the first place. It will also help you to overcome any struggle that you have receiving and accepting, so that your needs can be met. Do you know how much joy the universe gains from being able to give to you? When you delight in what you receive, when you openly embrace a gift and are so happy with it, the universe is fully received by you. In this space there is joyful communion between you and life, energy flows more freely and magic happens. When you demur saying you cannot accept, that it is too great a gift or that you are not worthy, you are impeding that flow. You are inhibiting the communion, the connection, the playful interaction between you and the universe. Enough with the false modesty and guilt! You are a radiant sun in human clothing. An exquisite life experience is your birthright. Enjoy it!

Sacred Rebel – Receiving

Healing Process: “Say aloud, ‘I release all false guilt and shame about having needs and all false beliefs about rest being wasteful or unnecessary. I accept healthy, productive, sacred rest and the gifts of happiness that it brings. I understand that rest and activity, balance, feed and nourish each other. There is sacred healing that happens through rest, which is very powerful. I accept and receive this now. Through unconditional love, this is now so.’

Then read this story aloud, as though you were lovingly reading it to yourself as a child. You may like to curl up comfortably on the sofa.

The great French Impressionist painter, Monet, sat in his garden on a warm afternoon. He was napping lightly on his garden bench, with the sunlight dappling gently through the straw hat resting over his face. It was soft and warm on his closed eyelids. He sighs contentedly.

A nosy neighbour poked his head over the fence, keen to know what the brilliant artist was up to now. ‘Sir, you are resting!’, the curious neighbour called out.

‘No,’ responded Monet, wriggling to get even more comfortable on his reclining garden chair, ‘I am working.’ He relaxed further as the mild breeze tickled the hair on his forearms.

Monet returned to his garden the next day. Consumed by the urge to translate his feelings onto the canvas, he painted with great energy and focus. He was inspired and the paint flowed. Again the nosy neighbour poked his head over the fence. He called out, ‘Sir, you are working.’

‘No,’ said the artist, barely pausing with his brush. ‘I am resting.’

When you are done, give yourself a hug and perhaps have a nap or a cup of tea, or do a little dance around your living room. Or paint, relax, go for a walk in the park or do a spot of window shopping. Just be, play, laugh and relax. Give yourself what you feel you need at this time. If you aren’t certain, that’s fine. Guess! And know that the more often you do this, the more skilled you will become in identifying and meeting your needs.”*

Darling Untamed Goddesses,

How did this July reading feel to you? Did it resonate? It certainly did for me! What intentions are you setting for July, and for the second half of 2020 overall? What would you love to receive and create? How will you lead? What is calling you?

If you would like a personal reading to clarify what is calling to you; work through the resistance that is keeping you from the momentum that is there for you, and crafting the message you want to broadcast to the Universe and everyone around you... schedule time with me. I would love nothing more than to support you, honor you, and bear witness to you stepping fully into your magnificence.
